

GRIDSEARCH

A model selection strategy where a model is trained for every combination of a set of learning algorithms and/or hyperparameters. The combination that produces the best model is then selected.