

ISSUES WITH PLATT SCALING

1. Because we train an additional cross-validated model, there is a significant increase in computational resources/time required.
2. Because of the way the predicted probabilities are generated, they might not match the predicted classes.

Chris Albon