

PARAMETER

SHARING

Parameter sharing is when multiple models or parts of models share parameters. For example, convolutional neural networks share parameters across different parts of an image. This allows the CNN to recognize patterns anywhere in an image and reduces the number of parameters that need to be stored

Chris Albon